Baker Library Historical Collections Microfilm Use and Access Policy

- Materials available on microfilm will be used as a surrogate for the originals.
- Patrons wishing to read, transcribe, or scan and save microfilm frames for self-service emailing may do so in the de Gaspé Beaubien Reading Room. Patrons may be redirected to the Stamps Reading Room when a reader is not available for use in the de Gaspé Beaubien Reading Room.
  - Researchers must leave valid photo ID (Harvard University IDs will not be accepted) when using microfilm in the Stamps Reading Room.
  - Microfilm must be returned to the de Gaspé Beaubien Reading Room no later than 4:45 p.m.
- Microfilm scans are permitted for the convenience of those examining the materials. They are for research purposes only and cannot be reproduced, transferred, published, or posted on the internet without written permission from Baker Library Historical Collections.
  - You may not use, quote from, repurpose, cite, publish or disseminate materials in any way (e.g. article/book/dissertation, posted on the internet or course platform, database creation, etc.) without the knowledge of and written permission from Baker Library Historical Collections, the physical rights holder of the microfilmed materials.
  - Separate written application for permission to use microfilmed materials for publication or other dissemination must be made to the Baker Library Historical Collections reference staff at histcollref@hbs.edu
  - Using, quoting from, citing, publishing or disseminating materials from the R.G. Dun & Co. Collection microfilm requires additional permissions.
- Researchers may not scan and print or e-mail any collection in its entirety.
- All equipment must be handled with great care. Researchers who mishandle material or mistreat equipment will be denied further access to the collections.
- Baker Library Historical Collections also reserves the right to deny access to or revoke permission to use microfilm for any reason.
- Upon written acknowledgement of the restrictions outlined above, microfilmed materials are available for interlibrary loan on a limited basis to patrons qualifying for in person access to the collections.

Microfilm Copying Services

- Remote requests for PDFs or printouts from microfilmed materials will be considered on a case by case basis. Costs are $0.25 per page plus a $5 processing fee. For more information see the Reference Duplication Policy.
- Self service printing from microfilm ($0.10 per page) is available in the Stamps Reading Room only and must be paid with Crimson Cash. There is a nominal fee for non Harvard users to purchase Crimson Cash cards in the Stamps Reading Room. There is no charge to scan and email microfilm.

Microfilm and Copyright

Baker Library Historical Collections is the physical rights holder of the microfilmed materials, some of which may be in the public domain. Baker Library Historical Collection makes no representation that it is the owner of any copyright or literary property rights in unpublished materials. Permission to use must also be obtained from any owner of the copyright (owner, transferees, heirs, legatees or literary executors).

NOTICE: WARNING CONCERNING COPYRIGHT RESTRICTIONS

The copyright law of the United States (Title 17, United States Code) governs the making of photocopies or other reproductions of copyrighted materials.

Under certain conditions specified in the law, libraries and archives are authorized to furnish a photocopy or other reproduction. One of the specified conditions is that the photocopy or reproduction is not to be “used for any purpose other than private study, scholarship, or research.” If a user makes a request for, or later uses, a photocopy or reproduction for purposes in excess of “fair use,” that user may be liable for copyright infringement.

This institution reserves the right to refuse to accept a copying order, if, in its judgment, fulfillment of the order should involve violation of the copyright law.
